Church St. battle continues

Dear Editor,
Re: Tracy Kibble's Column, Nov. 24

"Council battles term 'monster home.'

Many of us on Church Street have watched over the last year the nonsense that has gone on over the supposed 'monster home' at 43 Church Street.

What a dreadful waste of man hours and tax dollars! There are only two residents on Church Street who are "appalled, alarmed, and furious" about the construction of the Nastor's dream home and those people live either side of the house.

Both the Laings and Morgans approached other neighbors to rally round and join their cause. None of us have for the following reasons:

1. It is none of our business - The Nastors bought the lot, jumped through the hoops provided by out town (some of which were errors on the town's part which the Nastors have taken the heat over). I might add (e.g.) the 35 per cent of property building allowance.
2. Both parties had ample opportunity to purchase the lot - neither did for whatever reason.

This lot was on the market for quite some time before being purchased.

3. Both houses either side of the new home are large in their own right -

It is known as fact the square footage of 47 Church Street is greater than that of 43 Church Street by far.

In closing, other residents of Church Street would appreciate your asking our comments before you make an unsubstantiated, erroneous statement based only on two families' very biased opinion.

Should the Morgans and Laings spend their energy on more pressing matters such as the dump situation, the rest of us would be a lot happier.

Get another cause and let these people live in peace!!

Remember, there is always a choice - if you don't like it, move.

And please remember to treat others the way you would like to be treated.
