There's more to add to bottom of the barrel

Dear Editor,
Re: Kate's all-time Bottom Ten

Heaps of thanks for coming out of the closet on Achy Breaky Heart. We Achy Breaky-phobes felt all alone in our universe until you showed us the way home.

Now, unashamed and in the bare glare of daylight, we have the coverage to finger other works which richly deserve inclusion on your list of worthy bottom dwellers.

With your kind indulgence would you consider "The Bird's the Word" or perhaps "It's My Party and I'll Cry if I Want To" - which, by sheer coincidence - happens to be on the short list for Bob Rae's theme song - or Bob Dylan's scratchy cater-wauling in "I Ain't Gonna Work on Maggie's Farm No More."

Oh, you are a laugh Kate dear.

Keep up the great work; we enjoy your sparkle.

Worker drones should watch councillors

Dear Editor,
Re: Your headline story entitled "Request for invoice details denied."

Ken Prentice was quite right to ask for details of the lawyers' billings, and of any other billings he feels are inappropriate. The councillors are our representatives, the money is ours and this is, supposedly, a democracy.

The other politicians and civil servants who criticized his actions would much prefer to do what they do with as little scrutiny as possible. They consider citizens only worker drones, who should pay up and shut up. We should watch them even more closely.
