Experience backed by quality service is key to Marcello's success

The name Marcello has a history of quality and excellence in the interior decorating business that stretches back almost three decades.

In Stouffville for three years, Marcello Drapery & Interiors was located downtown Toronto, operating under the name Roma Upholstery from 1966 to 1980. The current name was adopted when the business was re-located to Scarborough in 1980.

Now Marcello Drapery has firmly established a reputation for quality, custom draperies and re-upholstery in the Stouffville area a reputation that generates a great deal of business through referrals from happy customers.

Marcello Drapery & Interiors can provide custom draperies of all styles, as well as a wide selection of blinds, including venetian, pleated shades, verticals and more.

The shop specializes in reupholstery of antique furniture, as well as modern pieces.

According to Marcello, 40 per cent of his drapery fabric is imported from Italy, and the huge selection of upholstery fabric comes from various sources in Europe and North America.

All work performed by Marcello's is guaranteed for five years, and in-home estimates are provided free-of-charge.

Currently Marcello is offering a discount of 10 to 30 per cent on selected upholstery fabrics and 35 to 50 per cent off venetian blinds.

Bordering on beautiful!

Wallpaper borders are a decorator's secret - making ordinary rooms look extraordinary!

Borders can edge floors, chair rails, stairwells, kitchen counters, windows, decorative mouldings, picture groupings, fireplaces, even entire rooms. Just apply your favorite border around the ceiling and repeat the treatment in every corner. It's an easy way to give a boxy room architectural detail.

Borders, properly placed, can also correct a room's proportion problems. Give a low ceiling the illusion of height by placing the border directly on the ceiling, drawing the eye upward. With a high ceiling, run the border along the top of the door-frame for a warm, dramatic effect.

For a custom look, cover the walls with a crisp stripe and use a coordinating border for edging. Borders can also be used to mat a picture frame, dress up a plain folding screen, decoupage a toy box, nightstand or wastebasket. For a neat trick in the kitchen, wrap wooden or ceramic canisters with the same border you've used on the walls.
