Music Mania rehearsals now in high gear

KATE GILDERDALE

Just say cheese. That's this year's advice from the maestros of music, dancing and laughter who make up the cast and crew of Music Mania. Rehearsals are now in high gear as the countdown to show time begins in earnest, producer Liz Lightfoot told The Tribune this week. "As always, it's panic stations now that April's here, but everybody is pitching in, and the show is truly beginning to come together." A combination of beautiful music, lively dancing and wry comedy makes Music Mania an integral part of community life, and this year's show, which focuses on the family, continues to follow that venerable tradition. "We'll have one number which will incorporate some of the chorus members into a dance number. We did it last year for the first time and it went down really well," recalled Lightfoot, a 12-year Music Mania veteran. "Seeing your friends and neighbors up there on stage makes the show that much more enjoyable. We always try to put on an entertaining show and give people a good night out for the whole family." Skits are kept under wraps until the last minute, "so it's as much fun for the chorus as for the audience, because we're seeing them for the first time as well," Lightfoot pointed out.

Tickets for Music Mania go on sale Monday at The Tribune, Card's Hardware and Stouffville Printing. The show runs April 28, 29 and 30 and adult ticket prices are $6 Thursday night and $7 Friday and Saturday. Admission for children is $3.50 for all three nights.
