Orgains: a surefire cure for the blues

February, it's cold and many people's spirits are as thin as a snake's belly. Sound familiar? Give yourself a favor. Give yourself a break. Go shopping! There are great deals out there on all kinds of 'toys' that can streamline your life. In anticipation of those hot and sunny days of summer, check out the cost of having air conditioning or a backyard pool installed. Or your daily routine a little easier with a dishwasher or a vacuum. You deserve it.

Some say the winter doldrums result from a lack of sunshine we haven't had more than a handful of sunny days early in '92, it's important to pay homage to the winter sun that struggles to peek through those grey clouds. (At last, we've discovered the true beginnings of sun-worshipping; they must have had a year like last year.) Installing a sunroof in your car would allow you to soak up those beams, even while splashing the slush in bumper-to-bumper traffic on Hwy. 7.

Find a reason to reward yourself with a little gift. If you've resisted that Crispy Crunch bar for more than 30 minutes - go for it - buy a car. (It's non-fattening.)

Washed the dishes on the same day they got dirty? Wow! Treat yourself to lunch out with your buddies, followed by dinner in a swanky restaurant. Consider it affirmative action for keeping the kitchen clean at least another day.

Some days it's a major feat of courage just to get out of bed in the morning. Celebrate your mind-boggling accomplishment with a new bedroom suite. As a low budget alternative, consider a fluffy new pillow or new bedsheets.

Watered your plants after four weeks of neglect? Pat yourself on the back, ignore those brown, brittle leaves and treat yourself to a shopping spree. (Starting off with a new plant, perhaps?)

Be creative! Remember, it's all in the way you look at things. (Maybe the purchase of new rose-colored glasses would help lift those spirits!)
