

Chrysler Intrepid declared 'best built'

The Chrysler Intrepid has been named Best Built Car in Canada by World of Wheels Publishing Inc.

The award was announced recently at the Montreal Auto Show by World of Wheels which publishes three consumer and trade automotive magazines in Canada. The Intrepid is built in Bramalea.

The award has been competed for since 1984 and aims to recognize excellence of the work performed by automobile manufacturers building vehicles in Canada. This auto industry contributes heavily to the Canadian economy with one in seven jobs associated to it.

Evaluation of the contenders was performed by the editors and contributors for the three magazines in an extensive ballot covering 22 points including such areas as exterior, interior, performance and value. The ballots were then tabulated by Reginald Adelman, CA.

Of all the vehicles made in Canada (a list of 24 cars, vans and light trucks) the Chrysler Intrepid scored exceptionally high in the dollar vs. size, rear seat comfort and space, and the market niche categories of the evaluation.

A mounted brass plaque commemorating the awarded was presented by Lynn Helpard, publisher of World of Wheels, to Chrysler Canada Ltd. during the press preview of the 1993 Salon International de l'Auto de Montreal.

Aerostar: a van that handles like a car

there is the Eddie Bauer trim package at $25,495 and the stretch at $26,595.

Note that the price of an Eddie Bauer Aerostar is about the same as a standard trim Ford/Mercury Villager.

The new Villager is a van which handles more like a car and the Aerostar is a van which cannot escape the pickup truck roots it has sprung from. It will never keep up with an Audi in the corners, but the Audi will never fit seven people and the salesperson will start sputtering when you ask about towing.

During the snow storm prior to Christmas I was glad to have the big Aerostar for the confidence imparted by the AWD and the security of knowing it had a full frame had I come to grief in a fender bender. With all that glass in a van that big, one would think misting in that kind of weather would have been a problem. Not so as the Aerostar already has North American calibre heating and cooling and it has a separately adjustable rear fan to move the air around. Ergo, vision was perfect. In the summer, by the way, the front and rear fans moving conditioned air around can get things cold enough to give you a chill.

If you have a lot of people, or things, to move around day in and day out, the Aerostar has the room, the power, the towing ability, and certainly the price to make it worth considering.

The Aerostar van is available at MacArthur Ford and Markville Lincoln Mercury.
