

Harmony contest open

Harmony among and within families is the theme of a contest open to all ages.

Written submissions are welcome along with artwork, and participants are asked to express their feelings on being a part of this country as either an immigrant, a French Canadian or an Anglo Saxon.

Another option is to suggest ways of bridging gaps between different cultures or between family members, or even how to strengthen the racial and family harmony.

"We're trying to let residents in the community be more aware of multiculturalism and family harmony," said Stephen Quah, contest coordinator.

Entries can be in the form of essays, prose, poems and any type of artwork, including painting and sculpture.

The contest is sponsored by the Catholic Community Services of York Region and is open to all residents.

Contestants are divided into three groups: elementary age (Grades 1-8), secondary students, and adults.

Six prizewinners will be chosen, a written and an artwork piece in each age group. Prizes are $80 gift certificate for the student winners and $100 gift certificates for the adult winners.

Submission deadline is May 28.

Markham and Stouffville contestants can send or drop off entries at the Markham counselling office, 2 Wootton Way N, Markham, L3P 3L8 or call 472-5583 for information.

The Catholic Community Services provides counselling therapy for marriage or families, services for new immigrants and English as a second language program among its services.
