

Parity needed in houseleague

lack of control over its operation, Dunkeld suggested his association would have to discuss the matter with town officials.

In the meantime, Dunkeld said it was essential to realign the existing set up so that the men's leagues were playing later at night.

"We've got to move men's hockey, put the men on later," said Dunkeld.

"That's a proposal that will come up at council soon."

Crowder confirmed the association's continuing commitment to the major-minor rep program, which breaks each rep category into two age levels. He said the association would have major and minor teams up to peewee this year and midget the following season.

"We've got to do it or else someone's going to get hurt," said Crowder. "Most of the other towns are doing it."

Houseleague convenor Matt Hawkins said he would upgrade his efforts to have coaches rate their players so as to facilitate parity in the houseleague.

He also said the bantam/peewee houseleague was looking into interlocking with Oak Ridges and King City for next season.

When local merchant Ian Boyd asked the association to find a better way of displaying sponsors' names on sweaters it was suggested a system be used where all houseleague uniforms have "Stouffville" emblazoned on them, with a wall of the arena set aside for all sponsors' banners to be hung.

Squirt girls capture Teddy Bear Tournament

The Stouffville squirt girls' rep team started off the season in high gear, sweeping to victory at the recent Aurora Teddy Bear Tournament.

The Stouffville squad won all three games played, edging East Gwillimbury 9-7 in the final behind the pitching of Lynn Harrison, Amanda Crowder and Lianne McKay.

Cassie Gilroy had three hits in three at-bats to lead the team offensively in the big game.

The Stouffville girls got off to a quick start at the tournament, knocking off Newmarket 18-3.

Melissa Stachel, Gilroy and Harrison each stroked three hits, while Crowder fanned nine batters.

Stouffville proceeded to down host Aurora in their second game, 14-2.

Crowder orchestrated the attack by smashing a home run. McKay and Marlee Johnson took to the mound for Stouffville.

Ratcliff midgets gain split

The Ratcliff Lumber midget girls' rep softball team opened up the regular schedule with a convincing victory and a lopsided defeat.

The Stouffville girls combined the solid pitching of Jodi Simms with timely hitting as they downed Oak Ridges 15-2 on Monday.

Lindsay Upton crushed a three-run home run for the Ratcliff entry, while Stephanie Summerhill bashed a three-run triple.

Ann Roy, Simms and Gina Goldenberg also contributed timely hits for Stouffville.

Facing Markham on Wednesday, the midgets came out on the short end of a 12-1 verdict.

Katie White, Jennifer Eagen, Upton and Jennifer McGowan each collected hits for Stouffville.

The Ratcliff team hopes to rebound from that game when they resume league play tonight at the town park starting at 8:30 p.m.

Aerator - Circulators Keeps Ponds Crystal Clear

Two models available starting at $1695<sup>00</sup>

"They will clear up any pond in 4 weeks. The water becomes crystal clear and stays that way winter & summer," says Basil J. Leonard about his wind-powered circulators for both fresh and waste water ponds.

An underwater propeller creates a swirling vortex that can be several hundred feet in diameter and draw water from as deep as 33 ft. By turning the water over and exposing it to the ultraviolet rays of the sun, solids, chemicals and algae are broken down and reduced or eliminated and weed growth is greatly reduced. Eventually all the water in the pond or lagoon rises to the surface, absorbing oxygen just like water does naturally in a flowing river. In manure lagoons, it keeps odors down and helps keep manure liquefied. Contact:
