Cubs, Beavers present honors

"They will clear up any pond in 4 weeks. The water becomes crystal clear and stays that way winter & summer", says Basil J. Leonard about his wind-powered circulators for both fresh and waste water ponds.

An underwater propeller creates a swirling vortex that can be several hundred feet in diameter and draw water from as deep as 33 ft. By turning the water over and exposing it to the ultraviolet rays of the sun, solids, chemicals and algae are broken down and reduced or eliminated and weed growth is greatly reduced. Eventually all the water in the pond or lagoon rises to the surface, absorbing oxygen just like water does naturally in a flowing river. In manure lagoons, it keeps odors down and helps keep manure liquefied. Contact:
