

Child Find identification program in Stouffville Saturday

A Kid Check Identification Program, involving finger and foot printing children will take place in Stouffville on March 25 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

the Child Find-York Region Chapter ID clinic is free. "We're finger printing and foot printing all children. Babies through to include teenagers are included," said John Walley, manager of the local realty business. Walley stresses that a missing child is "a horrifying experience" for any parent. "Yet, being prepared can help alleviate the emotional trauma and improve the chances of a child being returned safely," he said. Children under 18 months are foot printed, Walley explained. "At the age of two, hand prints and thumb prints are done." Child Find officials give the parents a package which is to be stored in a safe place in the event the child goes missing. If a child goes missing, the package is handed over to the police, said Walley. The package includes the finger print, vital statistics and a parent-supplied photograph of the child. Child Find's goals include assisting in the location of missing children and to help teach children, parents, school officials and communities ways to prevent this from happening to children. Walley is encouraging all local parents to take advantage of the program.

Music Mania celebrates 35 years

This evening the Whitchurch-Stouffville Historical Society is presenting a retrospective of Music Mania, which celebrates its 35th anniversary this year.

Lorne and Marion Roadway, who have been involved in the show since its inception, will give an overview of Music Mania's history, explained Lorne.

"We'll look at where it started and some of the people who were involved and how it's developed, and we'll also talk about which charities have been helped by the proceeds."

Slides and taped musical excerpts from past productions will be included, along with reminiscences of the group in its early days.

Music Mania began life as Minstrel Mania and has become an annual highlight on the community calendar.

"It's been a lot of fun going back and reviewing the past," said Lorne. "It's also been quite a bit of work, but we really enjoyed putting it together."

Everyone is welcome to attend the presentation, which takes place at 7:30 p.m. at Parkview Village Auditorium.
