Spring Home and Garden

Glass block complements any decor

If home decorating is in your future, you may want to check into the advantages of using glass block. More homeowners are turning to glass block to beautify and brighten rooms to create free-flowing spaces.

It has become one of the most popular building and decorating materials available. Shedding its former image as a product used primarily to secure basement windows, or appropriate only for contemporary settings, glass block has come of age. Today, glass block is recognized for its ability to enhance homes of all styles, whether southwestern, traditional, contemporary or country - new or old. With the flexibility to combine with other building materials, glass block can create many interesting looks. When used with wood, for example, glass block takes on a traditional flair. Today, glass block is available in a wide selection of sizes, shapes and patterns. By mixing and matching the patterns of glass block, any look can be obtained.

Glass block gives homeowners the opportunity to create their own unique designs, depending upon their individual preferences and the decor of their home. The different styles and shapes of glass block not only present countless decorating possibilities but also distinct practical benefits. Each pattern has its own degree of privacy while allowing for maximum light transmission. Some glass block patterns allow moderate light transmission while others reflect light up to 95 per cent. And every style of glass block is resistant to breakage, helping to ensure a home's security. Glass block's easy maintenance makes it a perfect complement to bathrooms and kitchens. When it comes to building materials that are affordable, practical and decorative, nothing else comes close.

MEADOWBROOK GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

Meadowbrook Golf & Country Club Pro Tom Price and Associate Pro Dave Woods describe our 12th Hole.

"The 12th Hole at Meadowbrook Golf & Country Club is a challenge for even the best golfers. The 175 yard Par 3 is not extremely long, but then it doesn't have to be. With water guarding the front and left, and traps protecting the back and right, accuracy is at a premium. The highest percent age shot is to go the the "X". Only high risk players should go for the pin."
