Local teams have a ball in Buttermakers slo-pitch event

By BRUCE STAPLEY
Correspondent

The money stayed home in three of the four divisions at the 16th annual Buttermakers Slo-Pitch Tournament played over the Canada Day weekend at the town park.

But while the Wolf Packs of Scarborough were the only outside team to prevail capturing the Men's Rec title, the Pack players were lining up for Stouffville passports when the final out was made.

"Everyone on the team thoroughly enjoyed themselves here," said Roger Champagne, the 54-year-old Pack veteran and one-year Stouffville resident who convinced his teammates to enter the tourney. "Some of them want to move to Stouffville now."

Champagne's nephew and teammate Darryl Owen, who helped organize the Scarborough Slo-Pitch League's team's entry into the Buttermaker's event, said she was sold on Stouffville after taking in the Strawberry Festival.

"My family was here until 11:30 last night (Saturday) and they were out there enjoying the Strawberry Festival all day. It was a great time."

The Pack won three of four games in pool play before defeating the Weekend Wreckers 11-9 in the semi-finals. They defeated Markham's Iron Heads 11-7 in the finals to take home the $350 first place prize. It was their first ever appearance in the Buttermakers competition.

Stouffville's Falcons captured the $66 top prize in the top rated Men's C category, defeating the hometown Liners 13-6 in Sunday's title tilt. The Falcons, who play out of the York-Durham Men's Slo-Pitch League, were Molson's Provincial Men's D champions their first year as a team in 1994. It was their first time in the Buttermakers tourney. The Falcons won two of three in pool play, then downed Uxbridge's Gorgons 24-13 in the semi-finals. The Liners were the popular favorite, winning just one of three preliminary games before ousting Markham's Father's outfit 12-8 in the play-off round. They came away with $400 second prize winnings.

The Claremont Blazers once again found themselves in the winners circle at the Canada Day competition. The Blazers, who won the Men's Rec crown each of the past two years, were elevated to the Men's D division this time around. The move up suited the Claremont crew, which swept three pool contests and a playoff qualifier before defeating the Farm Boys 10-2 in the championship match up. The Blazers, who received $400 for their efforts, had handed the Stouffville area farm workers a 24-13 defeat in pool play.

In the Mixed D division, it was Ricci's Sports Bar ring its second tournament victory in two tries this season as the first year outfit bounced N.V. US, another local entry, by a 16-4 count in the final. Ricci's won three and lost none in the preliminary round, then blanked Roy Rippers 10-0 in play-off action. Both finalists contained members of the Liners Men's C finalist unit.

Ricci's spokesperson Elaine Howie said Ricci's was able to deliver the goods because of the quality of female players on the team. "In mixed play, if you have good girl players, players like Liz Webb, you win," said Howie, herself a veteran slo-pitch player.

Balls and strikes Premier Canadian fastball pitcher Scott Evans played shortstop for Guido's in the Men's D division. The Guido's crew, which also included former area fastball players Dan Larmer and Kirk Smythe, was winless in three pool games.

The Beach Bums of the Men's Rec flight won three of four pool contests with a lineup including local Junior hockey players Jason Resor, Ryan Burkholder, Ryan Jefferson and Lee Wideman. Former Betz Pools men's fastbal team member Bruce Bears was also on the squad.
