Corporate Communications

If you have an accredited university degree or a 3-year college diploma or progressive work experience, you could become a well-trained Corporate Communicator.

You will hone your skills in writing, media relations, stakeholder influence on corporate management, presentations and other disciplines needed to be an effective communicator in tomorrow's marketplace.

The program runs full-time for 22 weeks starting October 23, 1995 at Seneca's Richmond Hill Campus 24 Wright Street.

You are a resident of York Region, must undertake a personal interview, a written test and be receiving UI benefits to be eligible. This program is sponsored by Human Resources Development Canada in York Region and is tuition free.

For more information, please call Nick Douloff at 416-491-5050, ext. 2041
