

Reform wish

Stouffville's David Burke, a member of the Whitchurch-Stouffville Reform Party riding association, stands beside a sign his group has put up at the corner of Hwy 7 and Hwy 48. It calls on local MP Jag Bhaduria to back a plan by the Reform Party to take over the role of official opposition from the Bloc Quebecois in the House of Commons. Both parties now have 52 seats, and Reform is putting pressure on speaker Gilbert Parent to make it the opposition. Similar signs have gone up in ridings across Canada, including Parent's riding of Welland-St. Catharines-Thorold. Attempts by the Reform party to lobby the speaker have been called contempt of Parliament by one Liberal MP.
