Golden report meeting produces mixed reactions

(From page 2)

Area Some municipalities are holding referendums asking residents if they want to be part of the big city. Meanwhile, municipal officials continue to study the report.

The key recommendation of the task force report is a new taxation system called Actual Value Assessment.

The new city will start out with a population of 4.5 million and have a $2.5 billion annual budget. It'll be known as Greater Toronto.

Greater Toronto will make up 42 per cent of Ontario's population and produce half the gross domestic product of Ontario and 20 per cent of the Canadian economy.

King told the audience that forming a super city will help Metro at the expense of the other four regions. The provincial government is expected to respond to the Golden report later in the year.
