Local girl puts pen to paper as tribute to victims of war

Anne Frank: Hiding in the Shadows

By Kara Dymond

We're hiding here in silence behind the hidden door everyday growing thinner until we are no more.

We get little food from rations and cannot go outside we can't get caught by Nazis so therefore we must hide.

So little room to breathe in here and in silence we must wait until the war is over or until we meet our fate.

Eight people all together tired and moody too waiting, worried, angry until the war is through.

Then one day behind the bookcase they find our secret door we hear the men come marching we will have to wait no more.

We're put on the trains and sent away now we're in the Nazis' hands they hate us and they spit on us yet we must follow their commands.

Beaten, starved, and naked catching diseases in the cold and marching to the gas chambers are the young and very old.

Editor's Note: Kara Dymond is 11 years old and lives in Gormley. She penned the above poem in recognition of Holocaust Remembrance Week last week.

Kara was inspired to write a tribute to the innocent victims of the Second World War. Kara wants to remind people that the work towards peace and security must continue, especially since the scenario described in her poem could still become a reality.
