

Stouffville's Elizabeth Carr earns Yes I Can! award

they're in school, the school board therapist takes over. She was fitted for her walking brace about two years ago and that's when she started learning to walk."

"I like walking and I'm so excited about my award," said Elizabeth.

"Oh, well," she added with an infectious grin, "I'm the school hero."

When the award was announced at Orchard Park, said Theresa, "people were congratulating her everywhere she went."

The Yes I Can! award is sponsored by The Foundation for Exceptional Children, a Virginia-based non-profit organization formed to advance the education of disabled and gifted children.

Every year, the foundation receives hundreds of nominations from Canada, the United States and the countries of the former Soviet Union.

Only 35 of those nominated in 1997 won awards, which will be presented at the foundation's annual convention in Salt Lake City on April 12.

Because travel expenses must be met by individual families, Geddes and May have established a fund at the CIBC in Stouffville to enable Elizabeth and her parents to attend the convention.

Anyone who would like to help can drop off a donation at the bank for the Elizabeth Carr fund, or contact Geddes or May at 640-3552.
