A restructuring of Spirit organization is in the works

A complete restructuring of the Spirit of Stouffville Junior A hockey team should be completed by week's end.

That's the word from Mayor Wayne Emmerson, who has been working to put together a plan that would see the Provincial Junior A Hockey League team tied in to a three- to five-year agreement with the town. While Emmerson didn't want to go public with the plan until all the pieces were in place, he said it involved a prominent Stouffville hockey personality. The plan involves the establishment of a board of directors, with Hakonson to become just one of a group of shareholders in the club.

At least six people have agreed to be part of the new board, said Emmerson, while a percentage of funding has also been confirmed.

Details of the restructuring were to be released at the end of this week once the principals have confirmed their involvement.
