

First-time voter still undecided as election nears

The Tribune is looking at the local election scene through the eyes of four groups of people. Today, we catch up with John Lambersky, who represents the youth vote.

best leadership so far," said Lambersky. "I like his proactive attitude. It is a nice change from Chretien's wait-and-see mindset."

Still, Lambersky isn't discounting the Liberals. "Actually, the Liberal party appeals to me most of all. I hope that their long-term ideas about economic security are taken very seriously by Canadians. I don't think a large tax cut will not benefit us in the way the Reform Party and the PCs would have us believe," he said.

The 18 year old does not have an established viewpoint about the candidates running in Oak Ridges. "I am undecided about the local candidate," he said. "Because of the media coverage of the leaders debate, the local candidates take a back seat. I will end up voting for the party whose leader and the policies impress me the most — The decision would be easier if Charest was the leader of the Liberal party."
