

Read by the blooming garden or check out our new CD collection

While you're out and about for the Festivities, make the library one of your stops. The garden, which was started by the Horticultural Society last year, is beginning to bloom. This year our thanks go to Vince Bisogno from Weston Produce, who has donated an additional assortment of flowers for the window box. You can see the new flowers as you approach the library from the west parking lot, or sit in the comfort of the children's area. Sitting and contemplating in the company of plants is calming ...

especially if you're sitting in front of a bright, sunny window, in the air-conditioned library.

Something else is new at the library! Music on CDs! A small, varied collection of CDs is available for a three-week loan. There's Pavarotti and friends' Together for the children of Bosnia, and a tribute to Stevie Ray Vaughan. Both these are great mixes, but a fun mix is the TV Themes. With the Mission Impossible movie out, that's an easy tune to bring to mind, but do you remember the theme song for the Avengers, or Kojak? How about the Streets of San Francisco? These songs are probably just there on the edge of your money. Sounds like a neat party game.

Drop into the library and sign out a CD, enjoy the flowers, and get a sneak peak at the Summer Reading Adventure which starts next week.
