

Every car emits over four tonnes of pollutants yearly.
 (N.C.) On average, every car pumps more than four tonnes of pollutants into the air yearly. With 14 million cars in Canada, that's about 56 million tonnes of pollutants added annually to the atmosphere.
 Climate change is among the most serious outcomes of vehicle emissions. Scientists say effects already are being felt and will be more pronounced in less than 50 years unless carbon dioxide emissions are cut.
