

Books help children cope with return to class

The school holidays are ebbing with the summer and soon parents will be preoccupied with readying their children for the start of, or return to, classes.

At the library, we are preparing for the preschoolers and the resumption of our Story Hour and Musical Discoveries programs.

These very popular classes for three to five year olds have been running at the library for many years. It's a startling revelation to library staffers who were around back then that some of the children who attended the early Story Hours are now registering their children in the program.

The library preschool programs start mid-September and registrations are being accepted now.

Story Hour runs Tuesday to Friday, from 10 to 11 a.m. Children may be enrolled for one specific day throughout the eight-week period. Cost per child is $35.

Musical Discoveries is held on Wednesdays, one class at 11:15 a.m., the other at 1 p.m. The program introduces youngsters to rhythm and music through participation with musical instruments, songs and games. Cost per child is $45.

The preschool programs are an ideal way to introduce youngsters to a class environment and develop their ability to interact with other children.

One of the most traumatic times in a young life can be the start of school, so it might be helpful to lighten the thought of Kindergarten with a few of our picture books on the subject.

There's Jessica by Kevin Henkes, Times for School, Nathan (Lulu Delacre), Oliver Pig at School (Jean Van Leeuwen), When you go to Kindergarten (James Howe) and Timothy Goes to School by Rosemary Wells.

The library's popular Babysitting Course for children 12 and up also starts its fall session in September. The eight, one-hour classes are held on Wednesdays at 4 p.m., starting Sept. 17.

The course is set by the Ontario Safety League. It costs $45 and a certificate is issued to participants who successfully complete the program.
