Rotary Club answers plea from Stouffville Food Bank

JOAN RANSBERRY
 Staff Reporter

Nobody will go hungry in Stouffville if the public responds to pleas for help, including one from a local service club.

The Stouffville Rotary Club has heard the urgent call for food by the Whitchurch-Stouffville Food Bank. The local club is organizing a business blitz geared for Oct. 1 and 2.

Food drop-off spots have been set up at businesses across town.

Beginning Wednesday and running until late Thursday, food donations will be taken at Stouffville Travel, Parkview Homes, BIS Award, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, all medical centres, Betz Pools, Cable Technology and Cook Canada.

A special appeal has been issued for the following food items: milk powder, beans, tuna, pasta, kids' lunch juices, cereal and laundry detergent.

John Pollard, spokesperson for the local Rotary Club, said service club members will do the pickup and drop off on Oct. 3 and 4.

As well, items for the local food bank can be dropped off anytime at the local IGA, the A & P, Weston Foods, The Care and Share Shop and The Tribune.

The food bank is also recruiting volunteers for its fall food drive. Anyone wishing to help out can call 640-1321.
