Knowing what to do in a fire saves lives

There is a fire inside your house. You can get out, but your family is still inside.

What should you do? By discussing what to do in an emergency situation, the fear associated with being in a fire is lessened, said David Blizzard, public education officer for the Markham Fire Department.

If you plan your escape, you'll know what to do. And as hard as it may be to leave when you think someone you love might still be inside, it is important to go, said Murray Emmerson, the deputy fire chief/fire prevention officer of the Stouffville Fire Department.

Which is why this year's fire prevention week - from October 5 to October 11 - is Know When To Go. React Fast to Fire.

"Knowing what to do and when to do it, really saves lives," said Blizzard.

If people have to think about how to get out, the fire will be getting worse and the chance of escaping less, Blizzard said.

You can win a fire safety kit

The Markham Fire Department and the Markham Economist & Sun and Stouffville and Uxbridge Tribunes give you the chance to win a fire kit which includes a fire extinguisher, a smoke alarm and oven mitts.

Fill out the ballot and drop it off at one of the three offices.

Contestants must be 18 and over and the winners will be contacted by phone.
