Steve Kotsopoulos of Chick-Inn welcomes everyone to the takeout restaurant.

Takeout food with a homemade taste

Chick-Inn offers made-to-order barbeque and Broaster chicken

If everybody wants something different for dinner (and you don't feel like cooking anyways), The Chick-Inn - a new takeout restaurant in Markham - is a place you need to visit.

Paul Sr. and Paul Jr. Coidis opened the Hwy. 7 takeout restaurant in July because they said the neighbourhood needed a place where people can get homemade food to go.

The Chick-Inn is the only restaurant in Markham that serves genuine Broaster fried chicken pieces, cutlets and wings.

They also serve barbeque rotisserie meals including half and whole chicken dinners, chicken on a bun and hot chicken sandwiches.

Dinners can be purchased with a choice of potato (including homemade fries), gravy, salads or vegetables.

Everything is made-to-order and freshly-prepared, said Paul Jr.

"It takes a little longer because the food is made-to-order, but I think it is worth the wait."

Customers are made to feel comfortable. While waiting for their dinner, they can sit on stools that line a counter-top along the outside wall or they can sit down at the table and chairs at the cozy restaurant.

Restaurant history in Markham

The Coidis are well known in Markham. Over the years they have started many successful business including Footloose, Col. Mustard's and Zappleon.

And what keeps customers coming back is great customer service and large portions of delicious homemade food.

And everything they have learned from their past successes is incorporated in Chick-Inn.

"Considering the high quality, the prices are inexpensive."

Chick-Inn is located at 5762 Hwy. 7, unit 15. They are located next to the bowling alley.

They are open seven days a week from 11 am to 10 pm.

For details: 472-8306.

For the months of October and November, customers can receive fresh cut fries or a salad with a purchase of a genuine broaster box.
