Sheilagh D'Souza recently had her carpets cleaned by V Care. D'Souza said she was happy with the service the company provided her and would recommend them to her family and friends.

"They did a good job. They moved the furniture and moved it back. We had to reschedule a couple of times and they worked around me. We also asked them to do a few extra things and that was no problem."

D'Souza said she was also impressed when staff from V Care did a follow-up call to ask her how she felt about the service they provided.

Awnings protect your home from the sun's damaging rays

Rained-out barbeques are a thing of the past when people invest in awnings for their homes.

Today's awnings are different from those in the past. Awnings can be custom-made to fit most patios, windows and doors. They also come in a variety of styles and colours, said John Bouwmeister, who, with his wife Catherine, has been installing Suncool awnings for the past 15 years.

John Bouwmeister Contracting Ltd., that specializes in home improvement and office renovations, was established 30 years ago. John decided to become a dealer in Suncool Awnings, a European-designed product, after he had one installed on his own home.

"We were so impressed with the way they enhanced the appearance of our property and the significant savings on cooling costs that we decided to become a dealer," said Catherine.

Awnings, which range from seven feet to 51 feet, block up to 77 per cent of the sun's direct heat, lowering interior temperatures by seven to 15°F.

They also protect drapes, broadloom and furniture from the sun's damaging rays.

"Awnings give you complete protection against (ultraviolet) rays," he said. Each Suncool awning has its own self-storage unit that protects the fabric from the elements. The unit can be left up throughout the winter, but can be taken down and moved to another home.

Depending on each person's needs or budget, Suncool's awnings can be retracted manually, electronically or by sun and wind sensors.

Suncool awnings come with a five-year warranty on the unit, mechanisms and fabric. The warranty also says the awnings will be mildew-free and fade resistance, said John.

John and Catherine make purchasing an awning a stress-free experience with their shop-at-home service.
