GMS Manufacturing Systems is a well respected ERP software/solutions provider for the North American manufacturing industry. As a result of our steady growth and excellent market acceptance, we are looking for team-oriented professionals to join us in the role of:

APPLICATION SPECIALIST

This position will appeal to individuals with a University Degree or equivalent and a minimum of three years' business experience gained in a manufacturing environment.

Your solid understanding of manufacturing principles and ability to develop strong customer relationships will serve you well as you manage the implementation of our GMS/400 software product at customer sites across North America. You will work closely with the client, providing expertise and guidance during the implementation process along with instruction in the functionality and use of our software. You will act as the primary interface between the customer and GMS, ensuring satisfaction with our products and service.

Your maturity and motivational skills will contribute to your success in this role as will your willingness to travel to customer locations throughout North America.

To be part of a progressive, dynamic organization offering excellent growth potential and an attractive compensation plan, please fax your resume immediately to:
