Programming You Can Count On

The most important period of learning in life is from birth to the age of six. Countless studies have confirmed that your child develops fifty percent of his/her mature intelligence from birth to age four, and thirty percent from age four to eight. Clearly, early learning and stimulation will have an enormous impact on the future potential of your child.

For this reason WEE WATCH has developed a series of activity booklets to enhance fine motor, numeracy, and literacy skills in your child.
