In the two and a half years that La Grotta has been serving customers in their spacious lower level restaurant on Main Street, Unionville, they have attracted a loyal clientele who know they will receive authentic Italian food, excellent service in an elegant, yet casual atmosphere.

The walls of the restaurant are decorated with hand-painted frescoes of scenes from various places in Italy. Crisp linen tableclothes and napkins give the restaurant its elegant feel as do the candles that soften the look of the restaurant at night.

During the day, sunlight pours in from the large windows and French doors that open up to La Grotta's patio.

A bottle of white or red wine from La Grotta's extensive wine cellar compliments all of the restaurant's delicious dishes.

People can choose from a large selection of pastas, soups and salads as well as La Grotta's specialties like veal, chicken, roast rack of lamb and fresh fish.

Presentation is key as is the service.

Customers receive the utmost care from La Grotta's friendly and professional staff. Owners Frank Bott and Chris Cadorn, a long-time Unionville resident, also wait on tables - the interaction that customers say they enjoy.

sgt. PEPPERS

Sgt. Pepper's is not your average bar. What makes the beautiful pub different from the other pubs in Markham is their relaxed, but fun atmosphere, their friendly staff and their excellent food.

Sgt. Pepper's is centrally located one block west of Hwy. 7 and Hwy. 48 in one of the oldest malls in Markham.

Partner & Chef Glen Busch with some of the friendly staff at Sgt. Pepper's.

Tucked away in the back corner of the Sherwood Plaza, there is easy access to Sgt. Pepper's and plenty of free parking.

Customers are always pleasantly surprised at the clean, cozy and comfortable atmosphere at Sgt. Pepper's.

But it's the food that keeps them returning.

Sgt. Pepper's has created a name for itself for its delicious, home-cooked food. Prices are low, which keeps customers flocking to the pub.

Starting in mid-September, Sgt. Pepper's will be presenting its new menu. Patrons can look forward to dishes that will tempt any palate.

People can try Cajun cruste crab cakes, penne arribiata with spicy Italian sausage, fresh Atlantic salmon with lime cilantro butter and chicken breast stuffed with sundried tomatoes, snags and goat's cheese.

But, customers will continue to find some of their old pub favourites, such as cottage pie, liver, bacon and onions and New England clam chowder in a sour dough bowl.

Staff at Sgt. Pepper's encourage people to join them on Thursdays to experience fresh shucked oysters, prime rib and Yorkshire pudding on Fridays and brunch starting at 11:30 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

"We invite you to experience Sgt. Pepper's," said Glenn Busch, partner and chef of the pub. "Stop by for a cold beverage or bring the family for dinner. We assure you, once you've tried us, you will see why we are not your average bar in Markham."
