CIBC Call Centres... as personal as a face-to-face meeting, as accessible as the phone, as efficient as a bank machine. Call Centres are often the first contact a customer has with CIBC and they are our best opportunity to explore new services and new possibilities. Picture teams of professionals networked together, that share problems and solutions. Picture telephone headsets that leave both hands free to access information via PCs, Intranets, and other banking networks. Picture data and information that are transmitted and accessed instantly.
