

Experience a Country Christmas

Raising money for the Whitchurch-Stouffville Food Bank

Taylor Tree Farms' goal this year is to donate two tonnes of food

The Christmas season is right around the corner and in the spirit of giving, Taylor Tree Farms, located north of Stouffville, is proud to sponsor its 2nd annual Food Drive for the Whitchurch-Stouffville food bank.

Customers can enjoy a horse drawn wagon ride over 140 scenic acres searching for the perfect tree, while at the same time, help to stock the shelves of the local food bank.

Taylor Tree Farms is giving away a free beverage for every non-perishable food item brought to the farm.

"Last year our goal was to raise one tonne of food and we accomplished that," said Paul Cudmore, operations manager at Taylor Tree Farms.

"This year we would like to double that to two tonnes. We need public support - all donations are greatly appreciated."

Customers can enjoy a horse drawn wagon ride over 140 scenic acres searching for the perfect tree.

Taylor Tree Farms features a wide variety of trees, horses and tractor rides, refreshments, a bonfire and music, free tree baling and tree disposal bags and, of course, Santa Claus himself. Taylor Tree Farms is open Friday, Saturday and Sunday beginning November 28 until December 23 from 9 a.m. until dusk. For details call 640-1325 or visit their website at: www.christmastree.on.ca/taylortreefarm.html.
