province's most influential political bodies. While it will begin tackling transportation issues and GO Transit, eventually it likely look at seamless water, garbage and marketing issues.

"That's the exciting part, beginning to coordinate infrastructure across the GTA," Cousens said.

But despite the fact he won't be leading it, Cousens hopes the board can work for both Toronto and the outlying regions.

"I think we've got to end this confrontational mode of dealing among cities and communities. I don't think residents have much patience (to see politicians) continue these little spats," he said.

"I would hope when the Greater Toronto Services Board gets under way, we break down these walls that separate our communities and find ways of becoming a common market."

He added he'll continue to take an active role in the GTSB to ensure Markham's best interests are served.

"I want to be there to help build the relationships and systems that will make us all winners," he said. "And today, I'm feeling great. I know I can make Markham a better place."

ABOUT TOWN

Experience true hospitality

Danny's Sangam Indian Cuisine offers excellent service and foods from all regions in India

If you thought true hospitality no longer existed, then you haven't been to Danny's Sangam Indian Cuisine.

"India's hospitality is her greatest treasure. She welcomes the world with open arms. At Sangam we welcome you with the same courtesy once reserved for the Maharajahs of Rajasthan," said owner Danni Irani, who understands the importance of hospitality.

Staff, too, understand and go out of their way to create an exceptional experience for their guests.

Guests are welcomed as soon as they walk into the spacious restaurant and seated immediately. Once comfortable, staff ensure that every concern is met and every question is answered.

Staff will share their knowledge about the food as well as the traditions of India.

While service is Sangam's specialty, so too is the food.
