Mary's gross humour to hit video shelves

and the delightful Cameron Diaz but — be warned — it comes from the same people who gave us Dumb & Dumber and Kingpin and sets some new lows in gross-out humour.

Between these extremes, there are some worthy releases. As in Rounders (Feb. 9), with the likes of Matt Damon, Edward Norton and John Turturro as card sharks. The script doesn't live up to the all-star cast, but it's still a delight to watch these guys at work.

And as in Without Limits (Feb. 16), with Billy Crudup as Steve Prefontaine, the spectacular U.S. distance runner who died in a car crash in 1975. But the real attraction here is Donald Sutherland who turned in an Oscar-potential performance as Prefontaine's coach.

Speaking of performances, Helena Bonham Carter is wonderful in A Merry War (Feb. 9), the light-hearted adaptation of the early George Orwell novel about a would-be poet (played by Richard E. Grant).

Other February releases:
Feb. 2 — The Alarmist with David Arquette, Who Am I? with Jackie Chan and Shooting Fish.

Feb. 9 — John Carpenter's Vampires with James Woods, Legionnaire with Jean-Claude Van Damme, Hi Life with Daryl Hannah, Thicker Than Blood with Mickey Rourke and the documentary Kurt and Courtney.

Feb. 16 — Practical Magic with Nicole Kidman, Snake Eyes with Nicolas Cage and Since You've Been Gone.

Feb. 23 — Ronin with Robert DeNiro, Urban Legend with Robert Englund, Shadrach with Harvey Keitel, Permanent Midnight with Ben Stiller and Soccer Dog: The Movie.

HAVE A NOSE DAY
