Cutting Away at AIDS set for Sunday

For the sixth year, Svengali Hair Studio on Main Street, Markham hosts Cutting Away at AIDS.

The fundraiser takes place this Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

According to Shiraz Datarina, owner Svengali's, Cutting Away at AIDS was created to honour the memory of Loughlan Hanratty who died of an AIDS related illness in 1993.

The event is a fun way to fight HIV/AIDS through support of the Evergreen Hospice which provides supportive care for people in Markham and Whitchurch Stouffville who are living with a life-threatening illness (including AIDS).

There are still a few appointments available, and they can be booked by calling Svengali at 471-6662.

Historic cemetery tour

The Unionville Historical Society hosts a tour of historic area cemeteries, burial sites and church graveyards on Sunday afternoon.

Cemeteries provide a lot of information about the history of a community.

Sunday's event will be lead by Markham historian Lorne Smith and Trevor Watson, chairperson of the Markham Cemetery Board.

The bus tour runs from 1:30 to 3:45 p.m. Participants should meet at the Old Unionville Station, corner of Main Street, Unionville and Station Lane.

Tickets are $10 for members, $12 for non-members.

There are only 46 seats on the bus so please book early by calling Neville Cohen at 477-4989 or Maggie at 479-0705.

Islamic Society dinner

The Islamic Society of Markham holds a fundraising dinner for the Jam'e Masjid Markham project this Sunday.

The dinner will be held at the Islamic Foundation Centre on Nugget Avenue in Scarborough.

Jam'e Masjid Markham will act as a focal point the local Muslim community.

Officials are hoping to have a building permit for the facility in the near future, and fundraising efforts are continuing.

Anyone who would like more information on Sunday night's dinner can call 944-0499.

Scouts need furniture

A Markham Scouting group is seeking out used furniture for an upcoming special event.

The Venturers are in need of old couches, loveseats, armchairs and broadloom carpet. Pull-out couches are not needed. Group members will come to the homes of those donating the furniture to collect the items. Call Alex at 294-7026.
