Family, friends and colleagues were on hand for the official opening of the Debbie Tucker Resource Library at Markham Stouffville Hospital recently.

Debbie Tucker Resource Library opens

Debbie Tucker was a registered nurse in the mental health system of Markham Stouffville Hospital. In December of 1995, while on her way to work, she was involved in a motor vehicle accident and did not survive.

The hospital mourned her loss. She was a person who was very involved in professional practice and continuing education, and was in the final phase of completing her Masters in Education degree.

In her memory, her colleagues decided to establish a staff resource library in the mental health system of the hospital. A proposal was developed and after several generous donations and fund-raising events, the Debbie Tucker Resource Library officially opened recently with Tucker's family, fiancé and colleagues in attendance.

The collection of books reflects diagnostic and various treatment modalities in mental health, and includes a number from Tucker's own personal collections.

Blood donor clinics slated

A number of blood donor clinics are slated for York Region this month.

On Tuesday, Aug. 10, a clinic takes place at the Markham Civic Centre, Warden Avenue and Hwy. 7, from 2 to 7 p.m.

On Saturday, Aug. 21, a clinic will be at Markville Shopping Centre, McCowan Road and Hwy. 7, from noon to 5 p.m.

Also, on Thursday, Aug. 26, a clinic is slated for St. Justin Martyr Church, Hwy. 7 in Unionville, from 2 to 8 p.m.

Drum corps info sought

Anyone with information on the Markham Collegettes Drum and Bugle Corps, which was active in the town during the 1950s and '60s, is being sought by a local researcher.

Deb McIntosh would like anyone who is familiar with the history of the group and may have old photographs of the corps, to give her a call at 294-8287.
