Main Street to get a make-over

A provincial fund called Ontario 2000 is giving $96,000 for landscaping work along Main Street, Markham — a contribution the town will match.

"We're just thrilled that we got it," Mayor Don Cousens said.

The money will spruce up the parkettes at Church and Joseph streets and may aid in replanting trees along Main in Markham's old village district, which neighbourhood ratepayers, merchants and town politicians are trying to revive.

"It's one component of making the street pedestrian-friendly," said Ken Hoyle, part of a committee that in August 1998 unveiled its vision aimed at solving the problems of Main Street, Markham and expanding the village beyond its familiar boundaries.

Meanwhile, Hoyle's own group, the Markham Village Conservancy, hopes to complete restoration of the village's former train station by September.

The conservancy has raised $200,000 for the project but needs about $100,000 more, he said.
