NISSAN SENTRA SE

Forester for 2001, giving it a more upscale appearance with new front and rear bumpers, multi-reflector headlights, a new chrome grill with body-colour frame, plus clear-lens taillights. The new Forester S Limited will be unveiled at the Canadian International AutoShow.

Three versions of the all-new 2001 Nissan Sentra sedan - the XE and GXE, and the sporty SE will be unveiled at the Canadian International AutoShow, February 17, 2000. The XE and GXE boast a brand-new 1.8-litre engine while the SE has a more potent 2-litre powerplant.

VOLKSWAGEN GTI VR6

The GTI, Volkswagen's ultimate

driver's car, again comes in two versions for 2000 - a high-powered VR6-equipped GLX version and a sport 115-horsepower four-cylinder GLS. horsepower at 5,800 revolutions per minute and 181 ft. lbs. of torque at 3,200 rpm. Mated to both the VR6 and 2.0 litre engines is a standard five-speed manual with a hydraulic clutch. The 2.0 litre can be ordered with an optional four-speed automatic. Fortunately, the GTI's performance does not come at the expense of practicality or comfort. Offering a total of 106 cubic feet (3.0-m cubic) of space, the interior is cavernous by sports car standards, and its hatchback design makes it a very versatile hauler. Split-folding rear seats give it even more flexibility.

PONTIAC AZTEK

Pontiac Aztek re-defines the automotive landscape by challenging the conventional wisdom about vehicles and market segments. Couples with surprising performance and handling characteristics, its versatility wrapped in a bold, fresh package establishes a new benchmark. Traditional sport-utility-vehicle character traits melded into Aztek's design include an aggressive, rugged exterior appearance, a commanding view of the road, and combination liftgate-tailgate access to the cargo area. The Aztek will feature a 185-horsepower, 3.4 litre V6 engine which adds to towing capability of
