Markham 2000 Photo Album - Part 2 Education and History

Markham 2000, the Town of Markham's special millennium, was so successful it takes two pages to present the results.

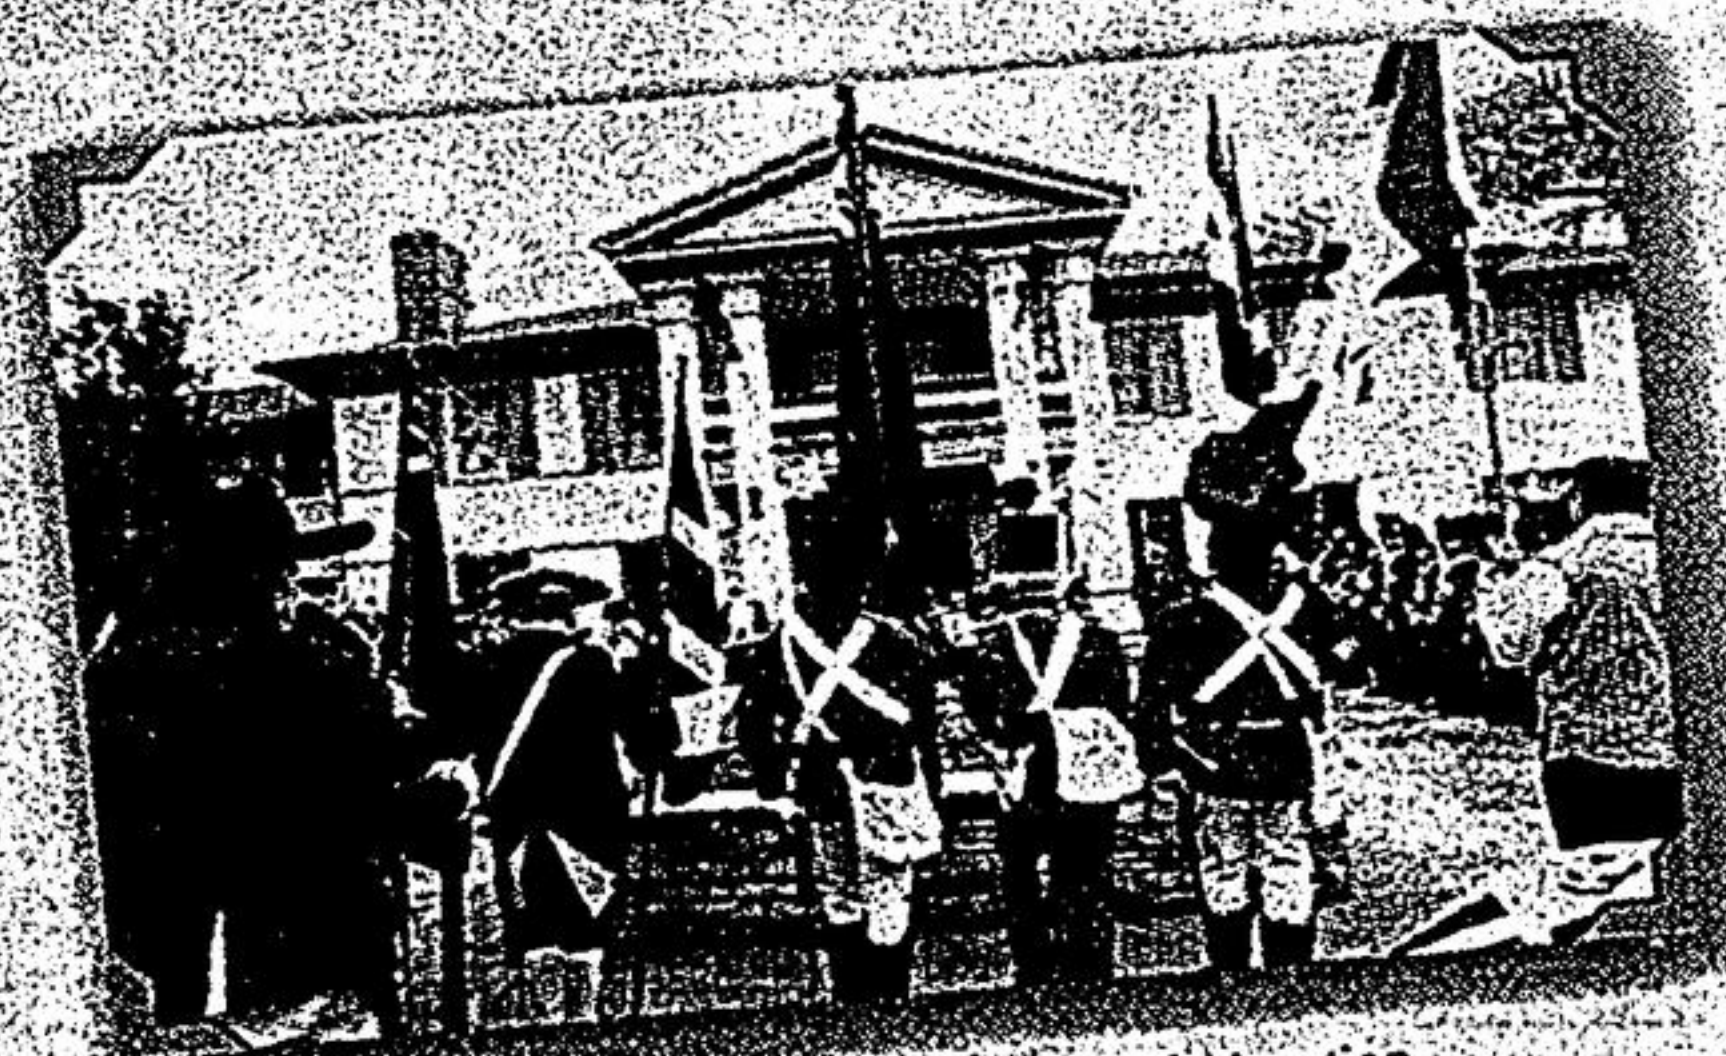

Last week, we presented the projects that supported Culture and Community Awareness and Environment and Beautification. This page presents the projects in the categories of Education and History, plus a special project, created and administered by the Markham 2000 committee. It's the first printed history of music in Markham scheduled for release later this year. Markham Mayor Don Cousens says Markham 2000 succeeded because the concept was embraced by the community.

"Our vision right from the start was to support meaningful projects with lasting benefits," explains Mayor Cousens. "We didn't want parties or fireworks. We wanted to strengthen and restore the things that make us strong and leave a legacy for future generations."

Markham 2000 supported 50 projects that qualified for a total of $550,000. The funding was provided by the Town and the Markham 2000 committee, which raised money through advertising and sponsorship.

Students at Flowerdale Public School helped plant six White pine trees - one for each grade at the school.

Heintzman House Empire Loyalist designation.

Millennium Mark, the official mascot of Markham 2000, appeared at many community events, including the Canada Day celebrations.

Millennium Award for Excellence in the study of Canadian Wartime History. Entitled 'War' by Wesley Woolston, at St. Robert Catholic High School.
