Stouffville resident delighted with makeover

Stouffville resident Bianca Zambri won a makeover recently from New Wave Hair and Beauty Fashion in Unionville. But instead of taking the makeover herself, she gave it to her mother, Lisa, for her birthday.

"What a pleasant surprise," says Lisa, who works for CAIL, a Markham-based computer company. "I've never experienced a makeover before and so I was naturally a little nervous."

She needn't have worried. From the moment Lisa arrived at the salon, the friendly staff made her feel right at home. "The thing that impressed me at first was how compatible everyone was, and how they all worked so well together."

Lisa's makeover involved Englika (stylist), Samantha (colourist) and Cristina (make-up artist). Together, they consulted with Lisa first and suggested a few ideas that she felt comfortable with.

The first step in the makeover involved dying Lisa's hair with soft, golden highlights throughout. "By lightening Lisa's hair colour, we were able to eliminate a few grey streaks, accentuate her beautiful eyes and bring out the natural brown base colour of her hair," says Samantha.

The next step involved the hair cut. Lisa considered her shoulder-length hair too long, wavy and unmanageable. Englika began by straightening out the curls and removing about an inch from the overall length. It gave Lisa's hair a clean, fresh and dynamic look.

Englika kept Lisa's bangs relatively long, and styled the hair away from Lisa's face. "Lisa has a beautiful face and this allowed her natural features to be accentuated," says Englika.

After the cut, Cristina applied the makeup. "We thought that a nice evening look would complement the highlights and her natural features," she says. Cristina began by applying a new Byzantine blush by Aveda, which gave Lisa a vivid and exotic look.

A tinted moisturizer was used to even out the skin colour and to add some moisture. For definition, Cristina used a brown fresco, which was applied to the cheekbone areas. For the eyes, she used a peacock teal eye shadow from Aveda.

"I was delighted with the end result," says Lisa. "I would recommend this type of makeover to anyone who wants to look and feel their best."

All of the hair styling, colouring and makeup products used for this makeover were provided by Aveda. For the 'after' picture, Lisa slipped on a fall sweater from the Votré Nom Collection, which accentuated Lisa's warm tones.
