

Big thanks for ministers

Janet Richards

Yvonne Salmon, activities coordinator at Green Gables Manor, took some time to recognize her pastoral team recently.

In August, Salmon responded to a letter from the Multifaith Council on "Spiritual and Religious Care Awareness Week (Oct. 22 - 29). The council provided Salmon with certificates for the nursing home's 12 volunteer ministers. All of the ministers were invited to Green Gables for a surprise tea.

Father Rob Shields from Christ Church Anglican said it is nice to be recognized but "the appreciation goes both ways". He said that Salmon works hard to provide residents of Green Gables with the spiritual and religious connection that many of them desire.

Shields said that the Church is often an important connection for elderly people when they have no family or their families are living a distance away.

Certificates were awarded to the following people: Rev. Howard Minaker, Bethel Pentecostal Church; Rev. John Howarth, Bloomington Gospel Chapel; Father Rob Shields, Christ Church Anglican; Glenville Simpson (lay reader), Christ Church Anglican; Franchot Franklin (lay reader), Christ Church Anglican; Rev. Mike Anderson, Heise Hill Brethren in Christ Church; Rev. Don Muir, St. James Presbyterian Church; Father Leslie Tamas, St. Mark Roman Catholic Church; Rev. Jim Amy, Stouffville Memorial Christian Church; Rev. Paul Fawcett, Christian Blind Mission International; Rev. David Skidmore, The Village Church of the Nazarene - Unionville; Rev. Harold Knights, Stouffville Missionary Church.

Holiday Decorating at the Pineapple Inn

Judging from the huge response, our Holiday Decorating at the Pineapple Inn will become a new tradition. Forced Bulbs are the topic for "Rooms in Bloom" on November 8. Limited space still available. "Tis the Season" on Nov. 29th is sold out but so many folks have expressed interest we are planning a condensed evening version Tuesday December 5th. Call us right away for further details.
