Corporate winner is 'United'

BY JOAN RANSBERRY
Staff Writer

A Stouffville company's impressive record for giving to the United Way, has earned it the Corporate Citizen of the Year award.

The distinguished award was presented to Noma Cable Tech by the Whitchurch-Stouffville Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting last week. Employing 275 workers, Noma Cable Tech designs, engineers and manufactures copper wire-related products for industrial application. The Stouffville plant makes single and multi-conductor wire and cable.

Eric Lismanis, Whitchurch-Stouffville's economic development manager, told the audience that company president John Cowen has demonstrated a genuine interest in the well-being of others. The company has consistently been in the top five manufacturing companies in York Region with its contribution to United Way campaigns. As well, Cowen is a past United Way campaign cabinet member.

To further support the United Way — with its 38 health and social agencies supporting more than 200 programs — Cowen introduces all employees to the United Way's payroll deduction plan.

Noma Cable Tech's commitment to Whitchurch-Stouffville helped with the creation of Stouffer Vision Fund for economic development. The local Lions Club, Latcham Gallery, Strawberry Festival and local sports clubs are recipients of Noma Cable Tech's commitment to the community.
