

Finding niche earns woman award

In the retail business for only a year, Ellen's Health Food is already making its mark.

The company was given an honourable mention at the annual Chinese Canadian Entrepreneur Awards banquet, held at Le Parc in Thornhill.

Founded by Ellen Pun, the Richmond Hill company has grown to eight outlets in Richmond Hill, Markham, Scarborough, Toronto and Mississauga with a production plant in Scarborough. The company now has about 50 employees.

Pun started the company shortly after emigrating from Hong Kong in 1997.

"She saw Chinese seniors and hospital patients being served mainstream food," said senior account manager Patrick Leung. "It's not easy for them to adapt and Ellen saw an opportunity to fill a need."

Pun began by providing frozen authentic Chinese and Asian meals to hospitals, nursing homes, universities and corporate cafeterias.

Last year the company moved into retail, aiming its products at the Chinese community, particularly working couples.
