Judy's Italian Pizzeria offers mouth-watering cuisine

"I don't sell pizza on special, I only sell special pizza!"

That's the motto of Frank Rossi, who along with his wife, Maria, owns and operates Judy's Italian Pizzeria, which has been in business for an impressive 20 years in Markham. Frank has been offering his mouth-watering pizza and pastas for 12 years now.

In fact, Frank has brought the culinary delights of Italy to Markham, including pastas that you crave like: lasagna, cannelloni, fettucine, gnocchi, ravioli to classic spaghetti. Veal on a bun, panzerottis, and salads round out the menu and all are available piping hot for pick-up or delivery.

At Judy's Italian Pizzeria, the emphasis is on fresh, homemade dishes, made from the finest ingredients. Every week Frank travels to the Toronto Food Terminal for the freshest of vegetables. And Frank uses only the best products available, like Saputo Special mozzarella cheese, Bertolli extra virgin olive oil, prestigious Stanislaus California tomatoes and Five Roses Flour. "Only the best quality are the main ingredients," notes Frank.

As a result, "for newcomers, they are surprised at the quality of the food — and it's not just pizzas, but all types of home-made pastas!" he adds.

Dishes are made the old-fashioned way with dough stretched by hand and the duo have refused to reduce their standard pizza sizes. These remain a full 12 inches for small; 14 inches for medium; 16 inches for large; 18 inches for party-size; and, 15 by 21 inches for the jumbo. Furthermore, toppings are never skimpy and cover the pizza right to the edge as opposed to leaving about one-and-a-half inches of crust bare around the periphery as is standard practice.

Frank, who makes all the spices himself, noted that he often hears from customers, "you have the best pizza I ever had," and that makes me proud of my product." His pizza comes in both thick and thin crust, whichever your prefer and as an added bonus, he puts wax paper under the pizza, "so you don't get the taste of cardboard, which others don't do cause it can be expensive." Frank and Maria will perform catering for up to 100 people or prepare the trays of food which can be picked up. All his goods are available for delivery in central and northern Markham and Unionville.
