Guest Speakers: David Berger and Todd Phillips

David Berger, P. Eng. is a Certified Management Consultant (C.M.C.) and one of North America's most prolific business press writers on operations, strategy and information technology for manufacturing. Mr. Berger is a regular seminar leader and speaker, and has written extensively about tips to successfully implement ERP systems, and the role of information technology systems in a lean manufacturing environment.

Now with Western Management Consultants, Mr. Berger is also an adjunct professor at York University in Toronto where he has taught operations management for the MBA program over the past fourteen years. Mr. Berger was formerly Managing Director, Management Consulting with Grant Thornton, and previously was vice-president, projects and process engineering, operations and technology at the CIBC.

Todd Phillips is the editor and publisher of Advanced Manufacturing magazine, and has more than 10 years of professional experience as a journalist, and editor of newspapers and business-to-business magazines. For the past few years he has written extensively about leading manufacturing trends and technologies including lean manufacturing, continuous improvement, manufacturing software systems, robotics, industrial automation, and contract manufacturing.

This Seminar is specifically focused on the unique challenges faced by small and medium-sized manufacturers and distributors in the greater Toronto area. Don't miss this one-time opportunity to hear Mr. Berger & Mr. Phillips.

PARSONS, Charles - In loving memory of a dear father who passed away May 17, 2001.

It's been a year
Since you've been gone
They say it will get better
But as I sit
To write this down
My tears fall on this letter.
You should have been here
Throughout the past year
I still can't believe
Your voice I'll never hear
I love you so much
You're the best man I knew
I am who I am
All the best parts of you.
Pam
