Church activities

Central United Church located on the east side of Main Street, just south of the railroad tracks, has been meeting as a congregation since 1840. Members of Central United were a driving force in the original Unionville Conservation & Development Society (UCDS) the association which initiated the very first Unionville Festival to stop the province from building a four lane highway down Main Street. Since the 1970s Central United has always presented family fare at its location. They have games which children and their parents can participate in, face painting, inflatable games, cookies candy floss. In addition, there is ongoing entertainment for the entire family and tables to sit at while you enjoy homemade barbecued vitals at their food booth, while you watch the entertainment. They have hot dogs, Octoberfest sausage, chicken on a bun and, of course, their famous "barn burgers". All prepared by the gourmet chefs of the congregation.

Central United Church invites one and all to visit them.
