year lent support to the SEAM initiative for a station building, "provided there is no financial obligation on the town."

Also supporting it is Markham Ward 5 Councillor Jack Heath.

As well, Mr. Heath praised the TTC decision to extend Markham Road bus service to Main Street, Markham this September.

Currently, the route — which can bring riders to the TTC's Warden Avenue light-rail transit station in Scarborough — does not extend north of Finch Avenue.

GO is also opening new stations on its Stouffville line at Markham's Centennial Community Centre on McCowan Road this fall and, in either late 2002 or early 2003, at Mount Joy near Hwy. 48 north of 16th Avenue.

McKelvey favours sidewalk

amongst traffic, that child needs to be protected," Ms Mason said.

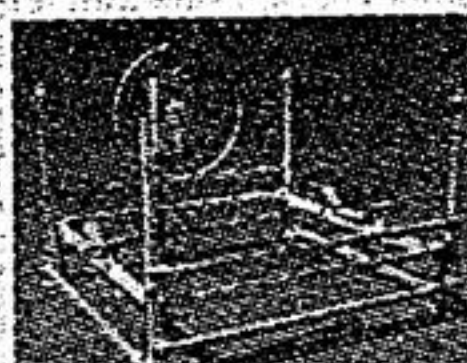

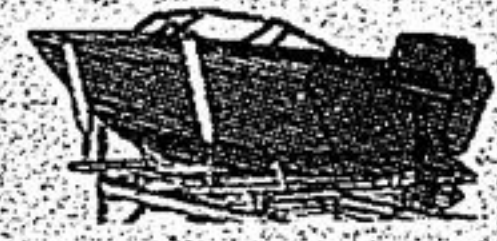

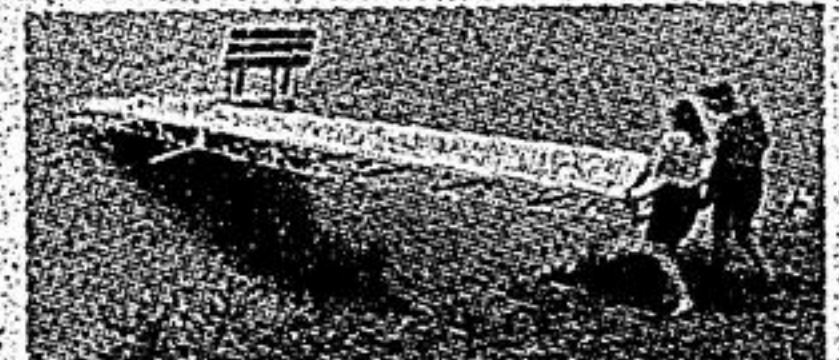

Although residents say a sidewalk will eventually kill their trees, Ward 4 Councillor George McKelvey said that will not happen.

Mr. McKelvey is convinced a sidewalk is needed. "Drakefield is a public road and it should be safe for all who use it," he said.
