Student writers wanted from high schools in Markham, Stouffville

The York Region Newspaper Group is looking for York Region high school students for our team of writers and photographers for our 2002/2003 At the Schools section.

We need students keen on current events and journalism who can share with readers issues affecting youth and who can offer insightful perspectives.

It's a great opportunity to learn about journalism and to create content for youths, by youths.

If you attend a high school in York Region and are interested in joining the team, please write a 400 to 500-word story on the following topic: A study conducted by Canadian researchers suggests adolescents would be better off if classes started at noon. The study found, in the teenage years, a person's energy level shifts from a morning preference to an evening preference. Do you agree this so-called circadian shift can affect school performance? Should school start later in the day? Why or why not?

Photographers are asked to submit a sample photo depicting life at their school.

Send entries to Frank King at fking@econsun.com. No phone calls please.
