

Artist hosting retrospective at Latcham

Viewers of Janet Hendershot's works at the Latcham Gallery in Stouffville will be taken on a 25-year journey through her landscapes from the large abstracts of the 1970s to the bold colourful paintings of 2002.

The Richmond Hill artist expresses her recent landscapes through vibrant colours — bright pinks against strong greens and blue against orange. She tries to capture the mood and character of a place by creating movement in the painting through her vigorous brushwork and her forceful colours.

"The landscape has been a source of comfort, communication and peace throughout my life," Ms. Hendershot said.

A York University graduate, the artist has had a number of solo and group shows throughout Canada and in Mexico, where she lived in 1991 and 1992. She has taught art classes at the Varley Art Gallery in Unionville for a number of years. Her work has appeared in exhibition catalogues such as "Twelve Canadian Painters" by Joan Murray and "Janet Hendershot Recent Paintings" by Ken Carpenter, as well as reviews in ArtsCanada, Artmagazine and other publications.

The exhibition continues until Sunday, Nov. 10 at the Latcham Gallery, 6240 Main St. Gallery hours are Wednesday to Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m.

Ms. Hendershot will be leading a painting workshop on Sunday, Oct. 27 at the gallery. Participants will be experimenting with abstract painting before using these ideas in a landscape painting.

To register for the workshop, call the gallery at 905-640-8954.
