"Blair takes the time to work with customers to help them choose specific pieces," Corinne says. "He can design from building plans or he can come into your home and provide a colour consultation."

As professional interior designers, Blair and his new colleague, Kelly Davis, are up to date on furniture styles, fabrics, wall coverings, draperies, and just about everything for the interior. As they develop a plan for your home, you can do as much or as little as you feel comfortable with. They'll supply you with samples and help you to select your own perfect look. They work within everyone's budget and incorporate the things that you love.
