Hermanson's golf exploits pay off

Stouffville resident earns scholarship to North Carolina university

BY JIM THOMAS Correspondent

Following in the footsteps of her older brother, Lindsay Hermanson has earned a U.S. collegiate golf scholarship.

The 18-year-old righthander enrolls next fall at Gardner-Webb University in Boiling Springs, North Carolina.

Ms. Hermanson's brother Jonathan attends St. Andrew's Presbyterian University in Laurinburg, North Carolina.

"I'm excited," Lindsay said. "It's what I was hoping for."

Scheduled to complete her final semester at Stouffville District Secondary School next month, Ms. Hermanson plans to take a four-year course in international business.

Bitten by the golf bug when she was 13, Ms Hermanson's game was enhanced when her parents, seeing her skill, approached hall-of-famer Sandra Post and asked if she would serve as their daughter's coach.

After watching her would-be protégé in action, Ms. Post agreed.

Within a relatively short time, Ms. Hermanson has amassed an excellent record, winning the best handicap reduction trophy, presented by the Ontario Ladies Golf Association.

While at SDSS, Ms Hermanson has served on the school golf team and athletic council. In Grade 10 she was voted junior female athlete of the year.

LINDSAY HERMANSON: Follows the lead of her brother Jonathan in earning a golf scholarship.
